Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

When all is said and done, the 136 policemen from Los Angeles who are patrolling the state borders illegally, could have done a better job if they had put gates in all the highways leading into Los Angeles, and established inspection posts for those entering the city. Anyone determined to get into California can do so as matters are now, whether the policemen like it or not, by seeking out unguarded spots along the state borders. But to put a ring of peace officers around Los Angeles would not be so difficult. Cadillacs, Lincolns, and Packards could enter Los Angeles without being stopped, medium priced cars could enter with only a slight suspicion, and a pause for perfunctory questioning, but T-models and other jalopies could be halted and explored for undesirable citizens and these when spotted, excluded. "Blanket stiffs" would probably never appear, for these poor wretches by underground grapevine are quickly advised of the location of "bulls."

But that is not the reason for putting Los Angeles policemen at California's gateways. It is just the Los Angeles method of getting into the national spot light. It is no concern of Los Angeles that by this illegal action, the southern city is gaining for California the ill will of Oregon, Nevada and Arizona. The city of Los Angeles is as much of an island, in-so-far as the welfare of California is concerned, as Guam is geographically in the Pacific ocean. By its prodigious advertising of the last thirty years it has attracted to itself thousands of wealthy people and hundreds of thousands of poor people who find life there a desperate struggle for existence. Its attempt to head off this near-pauper class comes too late. Taxpayers for generations in Los Angeles will be saddled with an enormous burden due to ill-considered advertising.

The mine workers have raised the salary of John R. Lewis from $12,500 a year to $25,000 a year. They have done this because they know that its good business to pay a leader something near what he is worth to them. But these same workers probably do a lot of catting about the plutocratic industrial corporations who pay their officers and managers what seems to them prodigal salaries. It all depends who wears the shoe, whether it pinches or not. From the standpoint of the organized miners Lewis is worth that much money, and more, to them. Corporation stockholders feel the same way about their managers who produce good dividends.

Some county clerks in California have reported that their boards of supervisors have refused to provide sufficient money to enable them adequately to re-register the voters this year. Whether this refusal is due to motives of economy or a desire to hinder registration which might be used against incumbent county officials in the elections this year, comes to the same thing: they are making it difficult for voters to re-register, whereas it should be made as easy as possible. Provision should be made to deputize county registrars in all communities where persons must leave their work and their jobs for a day or a considerable number of hours, in order to register. Many people would like the job of registering voters at a fee of a few cents per name. Heaven knows it is difficult to get voters to register even when they live next door to the county clerk's office. But the supervisors should make as easy as possible for everyone to register, for this is a year when it is more important than for many a decade, that we should have a full expression of the popular will. Registration for the May primary election May 5, will close on March 26.

One of the direct results of granting the veterans their bonus years before it was due, is the encouragement it gives to other groups to organize and demand of the government such things as $200 monthly pensions for persons over 60 years of age. When the Townsend followers see 3,000,000 veterans enforce their wishes on Congress, it of course encourages them to think that ten or eleven million organibed Townsend club members can wrest from Congress a grant of $24,000,000,000 a year. The President himself repeatedly warned Congress and the people of this eventuality. As a matter of fact, the industrialists, in former years, the farmers in recent years, and veterans of last month, have all been engaged in prying open the United States Treasury. It has developed huge leaks and half the population, figuratively speaking is sprinting with buckets in hand, to catch the golden drippings.

INJURED MINER IS IN CRITICAL CONDITION

John Williams, injured while working last Friday in an upraise in the Hussey mine is still living though in a very critical condition, it was reported today. While drilling in the upraise a body of water was released which brought down a flood of muck and water that caused a fracture of the skull for Williams and injured Frank Austin who was working with him. Austin will soon be able to resume work it was reported. Williams' father, residing in Mohave has been notified of his sons' serious condition. Dr. W. W. Reed is the attending physician.

SECOND TRIAL OF MARTENS VS. MERRIAM BEGUN

The damage suit of C. R. Martens against Clifford Merriam et al began today in the superior court. A map drawn by Fred Miller was submitted in evidence this afternoon and Miller testified regarding the degree of the curce, condition of the road and other details concerning the scene of the accident last July when Martens was injured. Martens, a guest of Merriam on a trip to Sacramento fell out of the car on a curve just below Rocklin. The plaintiff claims that he was going to Sacramento to introduce Merriam to certain officials while Merriam claims that Martens was only a passenger with no special mission in Sacramento. The jury in the first trial on this case disagreed. Martens was on the stand this afternoon.

Tonight at the Methodist church. the citizens of Nevada City will have the privilege of hearing Dr. Tully Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific, speak on "Responsibilities of Citizenship." Last year when Dr. Knoles spoke in Nevada City he spoke to a very large audience and no doubt it will be even greater tonight as many who heard him then have expressed a desire to hear him again.

Dr. Knoles has long been a student of world affairs and is considered an authority on international relations. He has served on important international commissions.

It is with much pleasure that the Nevada City Woman's Civic Club again presents Dr. Knoles to the Nevada City citizens. The Methodist church has been donated for the occasion. There is na admission charge.

The children that have returned are practically over their colds and very little coughing and sneezing is to be heard, and it was decided to continue school for the week.

Gettysburg Address

By Abraham Lincoln, Born February 12, 1809, Died April 15, 1865

Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth upon this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived, and so dedicated ,can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we canno hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it far above our power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember, what we say here; but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us, the living, rather to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that the government of the people, by the people, and for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

TOWN TALK TO LAVA CAP ROAD IS IMPROVED

A one way road has been graveled from Town Talk to the Lava Cap mining property road and rock is still being hauled to make the road two lanes or more wide. Work of clearing the Gracey Mine road is almost completed. Some work is being done on the Red Dog road, a crew starting at Pine Grove cemetery east of Nevada City and working to the east and south.

Supervisor Carey S. Arbogast and Alex Robinson of Hobart Mills are out on the You Bet road today looking it over with a view of improving the road. This road is routed through parts of both supervisors' district.

YELLOWJACKETS LOSE TO MINERS

(By BEN SWEENEY)

Despite a beautiful last-quarter comeback by the Nevada City A quintet, the Grass Valley Miners finished two points ahead in the hoop contest played Friday evening at the sister city with a 25 to 23 score. The Grass Valley outfit won purely through the advantage they held in the height of their players. Williams their high point man, was the tallest man on the floor and met with little difficulty in dropping the ball into the basket, displaying more the advantage in being well over six feet, than any particular skill.

The honors for floor work were obviously Nevada City's, although the first three quarters were sluggish and even uninteresting to watch. Grass Valley took the lead in the beginning and ended the first quarter 6 to 4. The third half ended 13 to 8, and the close of the third session, the locals were trailing 23 to 9. It was the last quarter that kept the spectators on their feet and the Red and Gold team busy holding on to their lead. In that final quarter, the locals scored fourteen points while Grass Valley scored but 2.

Starters for Nevada City in this contest were Lopez, Elliott, Stevens, Wilde, and Santinelli. Perez and Steger saw action later, Steger out of the starting lineup because of a severe cold which has held him down the past week.

Wilde scored 6, Stevens 3, and Lopez and Santinelli chalked up two apiece.

The biggest surprise of the evening was the showing which the local B's made against the Red and Gold B's who were supposed to take the contest without effort. Spectators settled back to watch a slaughter not knowing that the whistle would blow on a 27 to 22 score, a somewhat different margin of victory than Grass Valley enjoyed at the last meeting of the two teams.

Unable to snap into necessary action, the final score showed 27 to 22 with the Valleyans victors. This was the same team that lost to Grass Valley 38 to 22 a short time back.

In the B starting line up for the locals were Bennett, Organ, Schiffner, Brown and Mullis. The points were made as follows: Schiffner 7, Bennett 6, Organ 5, Brown 4. The Placer C team very smoothly polished off the Grass Valley midgets in a preliminary contest 22 to 6.

RUDYARD KIPLING EXHIBIT STAGED AT SAN MARINO

SAN MARINO, Feb. 10.—In memory of Rudyard Kipling, whose death occurred January 18, the Huntington Library is exhibiting a small selection of rare first editions of his poems and stories, as well as several letters and poems in his handwriting. Among the latter is his most universally known and popular poem "Resecssional," which was written for the Diamond Jubilee, beginning June 22, 1897, in celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of Queen Victoria's accession to the throne. It was first called "After." Later the title was changed to "Retrocession" and it was under this title that Kipling penned the manuscript now on exhibit.

Rudyard Kipling was born December 30, 1865, at Bombay, India, where his father was professor in the Bombay School of Art. Like most children of parents in the British colonial service, Kipling was sent to England to attend school. Letters written while at the United Services College, Westward Ho!, North Devon, England, a school intended chiefly for sons of Anglo-Indian civil and military officers, reveal how, at sixteen, the precocious lad had already started his career as poet, journalist, and story writer. In one of the letters in the Huntington Library exhibit he says. "Moreover I've been up to my eyes in work—Articles for local newspapers and gas and sewerage comments, poems, schoolwork, Russian, Chronicle (the school paper of which he was editor) and stories flying through my head like a railway train." Some of the poems appeared in a little brown paper covered pamphlet as "Schoolboy Lyrics," which his parents had printed in India when he was sixteen. As it was intended for private circulation, only about fifty copies were printed, one of which is shown in the Huntington library exhibit.

CITY'S WPA PIPE LINE PROJECT NEARLY DONE

Street Superintendent Herbert H. Hallett has nearly completed laying and taking up several thousand feet of pipe line in Nevada City in the last few weeks.

The Canada Hill reservoir line was removed at Nevada City's southern limits for a distance of 2,000 feet and 16 inch pipe, several inches larger than the old pipe, has replaced it. All taps leading into homes from the old line have been converted into the new pipe line. A six inch water main is being put in on Nimrod street to connect with the larger water main.

About 2,500 feet of six inch pipe has been taken up on Sugar Loaf Hill. Superintendent Hallett stated the pipe line project in Nevada City will be completed in two weeks.

LANDSCAPING FOR FOREST ROADS

Permits for road construction in national forests should contain stipulations for erosion control, protection of scenic features and clean up of excess materials from cuts and excavations according to recommendations made by the supervisors of the eighteen national forests of California at a recent meeting in San Francisco.

An expanded plan of road systems and the speeding up of the construction program in the past four years has emphasized the need for closer control of all features influencing road projects from the preliminary survey until completion. It is now the consensus of opinion among forest service officials and engineers that roads through the national forests must be something more than engineering projects built only for speed, alignment and gradient. More thought is now being given to retaining the natural scenic conditions and of taking full advantage of the recreational and inspirational values in road construction.

Roads within national forests are either truck trails, which are in effect secondary roads built by the forest service or forest highways foming part of county and state high way systems and constructed according to similar specifications Since July 1933 the mileage of constructed truck trails in the national forests of the state has increased 4500 miles due to CCC activities to a total of 18,500 miles. There is a total of 730 miles of forest highways now constructed out of a total planned length of 2424 miles.

OVERHEAD FOR RELIEF SLASHED

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 9.—Further slashing reductions in the administrative costs of the State Relief Administration were ordered this week by Charles I. Schottland, acting SRA administrator, as plans progressed for integrating functional relief, now in the hands of the state, with county governments.

At a meeting with more than 30 of his district field representatives and district social workers from all parts of the state, Schottland announced that approximately 1,000 persons have been dropped from the SRA administrative staff during the past three weeks.

The latest cuts, Schottland disclosed, have brought the administrative personnel down to less than 4,000. At the peak of the SRA program last August, more than 14,000 persons were on the payrolls. Additional reductions will be made at regular intervals during the next few weeks until only a small but compact organization will remain, said Schottland.

The cuts are in line with recent instructions from the State Relief Commission to pare the costs of administrative relief in California to the lowest figure consistent with the combined interests of the state and the relief clients. This action was made necessary through the complete cessation of Federal relief funds, compelling the SRA to meet its entihe relief burden from its limited state resources. The funds available for relief during February will total $2,000,000, but during the succeeding four months of the fiscal year they will be reduced to $1,500,000 monthly.

PARK BOARD HONORS MEMORY OF LATE MAYOR

The Nevada City Park Commission meeting Saturday afternoon passed a resolution honoring the memory of the late Mayor Alphonso Seaman, and naming the community house in Pioneers Park after him. The commission also granted the request of the high school authorities to use the community house, now named Seaman's Lodge, for high school dance some time during the next few weeks. The camp fire girls of Nevada City were granted the same privilege.

The resolution follows:

Resolution of regret at the passing of Mayor Alphonso Seaman.

The members of the Nevada City Park Commission, meeting February 8, 1936, desiring to join with the many friends of the late Mayor Alphonso Seaman, and all those in this community who feel truly bereaved in the passing of this loyal and good citizen, under whose leadership so much of value and worth has been accomplished for Nevada City, do hereby RESOLVE, that, in perpetual memory of the late Mayor Seaman's devotion to the upbuilding of Nevada City, and especially his interest in the development of the beautiful Pioneers Park, to which he gave so generously of his time and energy, the Community house in the park, shall be named, and known hereafter, as Seaman's Lodge.

NOTHING DOWN FHA LOANS WILL END MARCH 31

Commercial, industrial and home modernization loans insured by the Federal Housing Administration still are being made on terms of nothing down, and are not affected by new regulations just announced, it was declared by the governmental agency.

The new ruling was said to concern only three household appliances—mechanical refrigerators, washing machines and ironers—on which a down payment of 10 per cent will be required after February 15. Purchasers are permitted three years in which to complete the payment in equal monthly instalments.

Loans up to $2000, for the purchase of appliances and for modernization and repair of real property, are insured under this phase of the National Housing Act. Industrial and commercial properties, stores, hotels and apartments, may be rehabilitated by government insured loans up to $50,000, repaid over periods as long as five years.

This phase of the Housing Act expires by law March 31 and prospective purchasers and modernizers are being urged by dealers to complete negotiations for loans before that time.

Income Tax Delirium

(Contributed)

If you see numerous people going about mumbling absent-mindedly to themselves and scribbling figures all over everything at every opportunity, don't be alarmed. They're probably just trying to work out their income tax.

Citizens have a double dose of it now. Already harassed by the job of figuring what they owe the Federal government, they got through the mails recently their state income tax plank, the first ever sent out under California's new law passed by the last legislature.

This is the one time of the year when those who don't earn enough to have to pay income tax really have the laugh on their bigger-salaried fellow citizens. Because, to say the process of filing returns is "complicated" would be a gross uderstatement.

There are, however, a few salient points about the new law which all of us ought to know, so that we may be sure about when, how, and if, it affects us.

First, the tax is collectable on all income received since January 1, 1935. It may be paid in three installments, the first of which is due April 15. It does not apply at all to those earning less than $1000 a year, while married persons making less than 2500 a year are exempt. There are numerous minor deductions, but the principal one is that of $400 for each dependent who is under 18 years of age or is incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

As to the amount of the tax, it is one per cent of all incomes not in excess of $5000; $150 on net incomes of $10,000; $300 on those of $15,000; $500 on incomes of $20,000; $1050 on those of $30,000; and $2550 on those of $50,000, and those of $250,000 a year pay $28,450.

The few gentlemen of the larger incomes, with various sources and numerous other angles, have the really complicated tasks. But they can afford to hire a staff of legal talent to work out their problem.

For the moderately fixed person, however, there is no reason to despair. Sometime about the first of April at various banks throughout the state there will be persons to offer guide and counsel free of charge. So, unless you're a legal light yourself or a highly successful certified accountant, it might be advisable to wait till that time to put the finishing touches on your income tax blank.

TRUDI SCHOOP'S BALLET TUESDAY NIGHT IN SACTO.

In Sacramento's Memorial Audiorium tomorrow night, Trudi Schoop, with company of twenty two dancers, will present her now famous ballet.

Different from the traditional art of Russian Ballet and departing widely from the present-day forms of the modern dance, the new kind of cultural expression in Trudi Schoop's Comic Ballet has spread the name of its creator throughout Europe, the Orient and now to America.

While the Russian Ballet deals in fantastic representations of life, and the modern dance flirts with heady symbolism, the art of Trudi Schoop, to put it colloquially, gets down to the brass tacks of daily life. Instead of painting idealized canvasses or delving into the smouldering recesses of the soul, this new art form etches joyful caricatures of man in his everyday, human contacts with the world. Miss Schoop has achieved this through a highly developed use of pantomine and ensemble acting.

Critics have persistently likened her art to that of Charlie Chaplin. With pathos, and infinitely deep love, her dance comedies describe the meek, the disinherited and the innocent waging their small battles with the world and dreaming their mall dreams. Like Chaplin, Trudi Schoop achieves this through the comic spirit, the warm, all-embracing caricuature which never wounds or insults, but brings to her audiences the joys or recognition and the thrills of universal truth.

She employs a company of twenty-two actor-dancers and specially composed music. Each member of her troupe is equipped with superb dancing and gymnastic talents. Miss Schoop herself, who began life planning to be an actress, is the sole director, the librettist and creative genius. A young girl in her middle twenties, coming from a patrician Swiss family, with blonde hair, blue eyes and strong body, she is the epitome of energy and bubbling health

GOOD SERVICE COSTS NO MORE
A modern establishment—a trained, intelligent and courteous personnel — distinctive motor equipment and other evidences of progress and prosperity are NOT an indication that funeral service charges will be high. A successful concern can be built only by serving honestly and well, at prices that are fair and reasonable.

MRS. ROSE HOME FROM BUYING TRIP TO S. F.

Mrs. Ed Rose of the Fashion Shop in this city returned Thursday from San Francisco where she attended the Spring Fashion Show or Market Week for buyers. Mrs. Rose thinks this will be the most colorful spring in many years. Dresses are in many gay colors and for larger figures there are bright accessories, bright flowers fo dresses and coats and gloves often matching. Smart man-tailored suits are more in evidence this year, and large plaid spring coats are in pleasing colors of gray, gold and brown and green and gray.

The final scene of the show was a bride and eight attendants, the bride in white satin gown with lace coat the tail forming a train; attendants were in pastel shades. Mrs. Rose gave almost the same scene in her fashion show in Alleghany last May, a musician playing "Here Comes the Bride," as the group came on the stage.

Clifford G. Kitts of San Francisco is visiting in Nevada City.
